

Manifesto

First of all, this artefact is all about myself.

The reason why I decided to create this video was job hunting. I am not interested in job hunting, because I have not found out my future plans and ideal jobs. I just want to create and express something by using my brain.

My parents said get a job after graduation, because they care about public decency. However, all people are not same, and I believe that a unique person is much beautiful.

I want to step my life freely and selfishly, because it is more fun. People have different values and happiness in life, and I am not felt attracting to making money. Money is just paper, and we are able to buy only stuffs. Are we able to buy love by money? We could buy sex, but are you felt enough?

We are limited which means that we do not know when we die. We might die tomorrow. If that is the case, I would like to find fun, not a job.

-This is all okay because I think my life is stunning-

I suppose people should love themselves more. This is because we are all one flower. We are grown beautifully by pour a load of water to ourselves, expose ourselves to full sunlight and be loved. However, people have different preferences, so some people love roses, and they dislike sunflowers. Sometimes we are become sunflowers by someone. It is true that life is not easy. Even if we have felt happiness the day, but we see sadness next day, and we do not get what we want. Thus, we just take a distance from them because we do not need that kind of energy. However instead, I love my precious people more than others. This is because I know what love is and I want to make them bloom like flowers.

I cherish myself. Therefore, even if I experienced heavy rain days and snowstorm days, I am confidence that I can see the sunny future someday. I just live strong with positive energy, I will not lose to hurricanes.
