

Beyond the Board; Manifesto

I don't consider myself very outspoken. I tend to be quite quiet around others and I don't really speak on my views very much. But when it comes to a situation like what I talk about in my project, it's like I'm a completely different person. Even though what happened was quite cut and dry it's something I'm passionate to speak about something that I'm afraid will only get more and more dangerous as time goes on. Where silencing others will become common place in the world, but I know that people will always speak up for what they believe in showing those in power aren't standing as high as they think they are.

My intentions with this project are to let this story be known to more people, as it took place in quiet a niche circle. Along with showing the power and drive that the community had to make sure the rights were wronged and the corporations were held accountable for their actions. I hope that people remember those that I mention in this project, be it those who are responsible for the actions that took place and those that fought back against them. I also hope that people look up more about those mentioned as there is much more information and events that took place involving this company that I didn't have time to mention in the video.
